Heat Pump Tumble Dryers

Heat pump tumble dryers are the most efficient way to tumble dry your laundry. Unlike traditional vented or condenser models, heat pump dryers do not use a heating element to dry your laundry, instead they use recirculated air to gently dry and protect your clothes with a cooler temperature.

What are the main differences between an Induction & vented hob?

Good Question. Induction hobs are known for their efficiency, safety, and ease of cleaning, while vented hobs offer traditional cooking methods with the ability to use a wider variety of cookware & built-in ventilation. Your choice will depend on your cooking habits, safety preferences, and kitchen setup.

Declan Irwin

Our Expert of the Month, works in Irwin Bros Letterkenny & Buncrana and has 24 years of experience in the Electrical industry.

Mary from Donegal asked our Expert of the month.

We want to buy greener and more sustainable appliances for our family home, what should we look out for

We get asked this question a lot in store, it's a cause close to our hearts in Expert. We always advise on the most sustainable appliance for our customer's needs. Here are the top 5 things to look out for:

Energy Efficiency Ratings: Always look for appliances with certified high energy ratings, they use less energy, reducing your carbon footprint and saving you money on electricity bills.

Water Conservation: Choose appliances that use water efficiently, such as low-flow dishwashers and washing machines. This is especially important in Ireland, where water conservation is crucial to protect our natural resources.

Size and Capacity: Select appliances that are appropriately sized for your needs, avoiding oversized or undersized models that can lead to energy waste. Pick more durable models that will last longer too.

Smart Technology & AI: Appliances with smart features, such as sensors and automation, can optimise energy and water usage, reducing waste and improving overall efficiency. Plus, they make your life easier.

Innovative Features: Consider appliances with innovative features that promote sustainability, such as heat pump dryers, Induction Hobs, Self Cleaning Ovens and solar powered options, to name but a few.

GUIDE to Buying a New TV

From understanding specs to deciding between different TV sizes, there's a lot to consider when choosing the right TV. That's why we're here to help guide you through the process with this handy TV Buying Guide.

Choosing the Right Size

The best TV size depends on your space and how far you sit from the screen. A larger screen can be more immersive, but too big in a small room can feel overwhelming. A general rule is to sit about 1.5 times the screen size away for the best experience.

Resolution for Clarity

Resolution affects how sharp and detailed a picture looks. 4K resolution is now the standard, offering four times the detail of older 1080p TVs. If you want the clearest images, especially for large screens, higher resolution is a must.

Display Technology

TV types offer distinct picture qualities. OLED provides deep blacks and vibrant colours, while LED TVs are brighter and more affordable. QLED uses LED backlighting for higher brightness and longer lifespan than OLED, but can't achieve true blacks. Your choice depends on lighting conditions & viewing preferences.

Smooth Motion & Refresh Rates

A higher refresh rate (measured in Hz) helps reduce blur, making fast-moving scenes look smoother. If you watch a lot of sports or play video games, a refresh rate of 120Hz or higher can improve your experience.

Smart TV Features

Modern TVs come with built-in apps like Netflix and YouTube, allowing you to stream content without extra devices. Some also have voice control, making it easier to navigate and search for shows.

Better Sound Options

TV speakers are getting better, but external sound systems, like soundbars or surround sound setups, can enhance clarity and bass, creating a more immersive experience.
